Recommendation

1. Considering the established practise in use by the majority of amateur radio operators, IARU Region 1 recommends that well established CW procedures can still be used, in addition to the alternative procedures introduced in the book "Ethics and Procedures to the Radio Amateur" by ON4UN & ON4WW, adopted by the IARU AC.
2. The recommended CW (and digital mode) operating procedure involves the following:
 - a) "K" is invitation to transmit
 - b) A station ending their transmission with "AR" alone is not inviting callers
 - c) "K" is the most common ending of a general "CQ" call.
3. That maximum publicity should be given, via member societies and other available channels, to this recommendation.
4. If this recommendation is carried, the Region 1 EC is instructed to bring this result to the IARU AC at the first possible opportunity.

IARU Region 1

Agenda 2014-2017

Dear colleagues,

After the last EC meeting at San Miguel, I thought about the set-up of the EC and the person to be president. Having received feedback to the effect that I am also considered a candidate, I have seriously re-evaluated the situation. I apply for the position, in order to implement some of my ideas, to strengthen our representation in various committees, to invigorate the good work in the WRC, and to support it with new members.

Hans, PB2T, sent me an overview of the time he spent in the position. The clearly marked points where the presence of the IARU Region 1 President is required, are possible for me to attend. I already participate to EC meetings, conferences and sub working groups (and organized the last 20 years Vienna). I also asked my wife and received an „okay“.

In order for you not to do a blind bargain, I have summarised my thoughts and plans for the IARU Region 1 in a few lines. Here is a tentative list of items that I would like to continue or initialize. I have sorted them according to the importance I assign them.

- The present EC with Hans, PB2T as its president has achieved a lot and has done excellent work concerning standardisations and the preparation and execution of WRC. I want to continue this line of work.
- Purposeful employment of specialists and lobbyists, definition of their tasks as well as targeted publicity work in Brussels, considering the fact that whoever is on site will be heard much clearer. Writing of information folders to be distributed to politicians, participants of working groups, or other important parties whenever an opportunity arises.
- Collecting national votes for the various committees (WRC, CENELEC, etc.). Reviving the STARS project in this direction.
- Enhancing and supporting IARU liaison officers in the national societies.
- Considerations about how to support young newcomers at the highest level. Here, ideas ought to be developed in a joint effort. Following the example of the scout movement, we should perhaps organize a worldwide HAMmeeting for young amateurs up to the age of 20. For such an undertaking we may need professional help, so that our activities are efficient and have a lasting effect.

Successful projects and activities in the individual member societies should be taken up and described. If necessary, small series of projects should be implemented which can be carried out quickly and at little cost. Some good examples already exist, such as an ARDF kit, a DIY-kit for kids, and a „Wireless Activity Kit“ with games with licence-free radios.

- Coherent reports and suggestions for the national member societies, to be translated into the most important languages. IARU information for the members of the national member societies, describing IARU's tasks and activities. Brochures to be distributed in various languages (like the "WRC" and "Electromagnetic Disturbances, Standardisation and CE Marking" folder I will bring to the conference).
- Support of the Monitoring Services.
- The readability of documents and the transparency of decision-making ought to be improved considerably. Moreover, I think it is of paramount importance to collect votes for the WRC, but this ought to be one of the core activities of „Stars“.
- IARU booth at the HAM Radio, with EC members and the president present. This is a crucial opportunity to explain the advantages of IARU to individual members.
- Further updating and expansion of the homepage.
- Setting up a general conference checklist (with respect to the distance to an international airport, the waiting times there, and the size of the hotel), so that all participants can stay at the same hotel). So that we have a guideline for the next conferences.
- Setting up a documented checklist of support granted to individuals who attend conferences and meetings.

I know very well that further refinement is required, but this will be the job of the new EC.

Your comments are appreciated.
